Axelrod Design, the San Francisco branch of Axelrod Architects (Israel), provides architectural, landscape, and interior design solutions for commercial and private customers. Our design approach emphasizes the continuity of space within the bonds of a program. Graphic, orthogonal patterns are applied, inspired by modernist movements, as the foundation for three-dimensional compositions. Developing new interpretations of the articulation of space, we utilize the notion of continuous spatial flow as experienced by a moving person within a structure. Materials and light are the means used for composing focal points within the course of motion, creating the contrast between minimalism and spatial drama.
